

LARGE ANIMAL EMERGENCY RESCUE AWARENESS-LEVEL COURSE

Presented by
Equine Guelph, University of Guelph
and Atlantic Veterinary College,
University of Prince Edward Island

Location: Atlantic Veterinary College, 550 University Ave, Charlottetown, PEI

Date: Tuesday, August 19, 2025 (9am to 4pm) (limited to 30 participants)

Cost: $125 (lunch included) contact Dr. Mills, mcmills@upei.ca

Instructors:

Dr. Rebecca Husted, TLAER Inc. (Technical Large Animal Emergency Rescue Inc.) - contributes her time and expertise to several international committees for equine welfare (PATH, International) and is the NFPA Standard 150 technical chair and subject matter expert. Her current research includes the physiological responses to technical rescue procedures and equipment in large animals.

Victor MacPherson - Lead Instructor Equine Guelph Large Animal Emergency Rescue Program & facilitator for fire services response for Farm and Food Care Ontario. Retired District Fire Chief from the Adjala-Tosorontio Fire Department, Victor works with the City of Vaughan Fire Department as a Master Emergency Vehicle Technician.

Dr. Chris Riley, Chair of Clinical Studies, Ontario Veterinary College. Former Manager of the Veterinary Emergency Response Team at Massey University, New Zealand; an inaugural board member of the Animal Emergency Incident Management ANZ, Australia, & Deputy Chair, National Animal Welfare Emergency Management Committee of the New Zealand Government.

Primary Audience:

firefighters, first responders, pre-service, law enforcement, animal control officers, veterinarians, vet. technicians, emergency animal response teams, horse owners, livestock producers and associations (participants must be minimum of 18 yrs of age)

Required Equipment:

PPE - green patch safety footwear, gloves and helmet
(safety glasses optional)

Register: Dr. Mills, mcmills@upei.ca